The Stock Market Opened Strong but the General List Soon Gave Way to Utter Stagnation.

A Reaction Occurred Before the Close and the Last Quotations Show Advances. Railway Bonds Higher.

COMMERCIAL RESUME.

special to the Gazette.

New York, Feb. 23.—Railway bonds today closed as follows: Texas and Pacific Road at 98; Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe at 97; Kansas and Texas at 101; 5's at 101; 6's at 101; Missouri, Kansas and Texas at 101. Foreign exchange strong. Money 2 1/2 per cent. Government bonds closed steady. Silver 95 1/2. Wheat weak. Oil 89 1/2. Cotton steady.

Coffee was somewhat disturbed by the announcement of failures at Havre and showed a decline of 25 to 35 points. Sugar remains firm.

GOVERNMENT STOCKS AND BONDS. New York, Feb. 23.—In the stock market the first prices were generally from 1 to 2 points above the closing figures of yesterday, and this advantage was further increased in the early trading, but the market became extremely dull, and after noon settled down to utter stagnation. Prices sagged off until the last hour, when some strength was shown in St. Paul and Norfolk and Western preferred, to which the rest of the list responded, and the market closed firm though dull, at slight fractions better than the active list is higher.

Railroad bonds were firm and higher, but there was small business, amounting to only $248,000. The dealings remained without a feature, but several marked advances were established.

Government bonds dull but steady.

THEY CHOSE YANKEE WIVES.

Some of the Notable French Politicians and Noblemen Who Have Wedded American Women.

Paris, Jan. 30.—I propose in this letter to mention briefly some of the American girls who have wedded Frenchmen, and to give you some little idea of themselves and of their families. Mme. Waddington, wife of the French Ambassador to England, was Miss King of New York, whose father was president of the Columbia College. During the exposition of 1878 M. Waddington was Minister of Foreign Affairs; and I remember that at one of the grand balls given at the Palace of the Quai d'Orsay Mme. Waddington and a young gentleman from New York led the cotillon, or "german," as we say in America. I was very proud to see all those dancers following the lead of two of my countrymen.

The wife of the late President, Mrs. Grant, was born in New York. Her father was a well-known physician. Another sister is the wife of Mr. Westbury, who once represented the Netherlands in Washington, and who is now accredited to the court of King Humbert. On her husband's side she is well related. Her brother-in-law, Richard Wadell, represents Russia in the Chamber of Deputies, and another brother-in-law is a professor in the Sorbonne. The Waddingtons are quite as much English as French. They were born in England, of English parents, and educated in English as well as in French schools. Mr. Richard Waddington's wife is Scotch, and they all speak English as easily as French, although Mr. William Waddington once said to me that if he wished to make a speech he preferred to do so in French. The wife of another distinguished French public man is also an American. I refer to Mme. Clemenceau.

She was Miss Mary Plummer of Greenwich, Conn., and met her future husband at a well-known Connecticut young ladies' boarding-school, where young Dr. Clemenceau was the French teacher. Mme. Clemenceau is frequently seen at public receptions with her husband, but with the exception of an occasional appearance on invitation at the United States Minister's, she is seldom seen in American circles at Paris. This is said to be due to the influence of her husband, who wishes his wife to become "really French." And he has succeeded admirably. Mme. Clemenceau speaks the language with only a slight accent—less than her husband has in English—and has adapted herself very quickly and readily to her new surroundings. Although at heart she is strongly American, on the surface she is decidedly French and European.

M. Ribot, one of the ablest men on the Republican side in France, is the husband of the daughter of Mr. Baruch, once a prominent Chicago banker. There is the Marchioness de Talleyrand-Périgord, for instance. She was Miss Curtis of New York. Her father was once a "merchant prince" who lived on Murray Hill, and was related to Governor H. H. H. and other well-known Manhattan families. She got a divorce a short time ago from her husband of a husband, who has since married another American. The sister of the Marchioness was one of the prettiest young girls in Paris when she was in her teens—she may be yet, but I have not seen her for several years—and married, some two or three years ago, Prince Raspoli, member of a distinguished Italian family. Miss Curtis was his third wife.

Baroness de Charvot, wife of the commander of the Pacific Division, was Miss Polk, daughter of Colonel Polk of Nashville, Tenn., and granddaughter of Bishop Polk, who was killed in battle during the war of the rebellion, not granddaughter of President Polk, as has been often stated. Mme. de Charvot now lives at La Basse Motte, an estate presented to her husband by the Zouaves. Baron de Charvot is nephew of the late Count de Cambord, and for that reason, if for no other, is "more Royalist than the King."

The Vicomtesse de Courval was Miss Rye of New York. While traveling with her parents in the Holy Land she met the Vicomte, who was fascinated with her charms and married her. He died a few years ago, and the Vicomtesse is now living alone in the beautiful house of Rue Fortin, Champs Elysees. Her entertainments are among the most magnificent given in Paris.

At 22 Fifth Avenue lived Miss Eleonore, who, in 1874, became the Duchess of Choiseul-Praslin. Miss Norton, Countess of Suresne d'Aulan, like Mme. de Charvot, she prefers to live at her husband's country place, near Marcellines.

and, although she has a residence in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, she is scarcely known to Parisian society. The Marchioness de Mores, who will some day be Duchess of Vallombrosa, was Miss Medora von Hoffmann of New York. The report of her contemplated divorce is without foundation. She and the Marquis have gone to India, intending to spend a year in hunting. Her ambition at present is to be the first woman to kill a rhinoceros. The Prince of Wales has given M. and Mme. de Mores letters of introduction to all the rajahs and maharajahs, and their friendly relations with Lord Dufferin, Vice-Roy, will also add greatly to their sources of entertainment while in India. On his return the Marquis intends to engage in some colossal railroad scheme in America. Countess Etienne de Ganay was Miss Ridgeway; Countess Jacques d'Armon, Miss Fisher; Marchioness de Chasseloup-Laubat and Baroness de Hirsch are sisters and members of the Pitt family of New Orleans; Countess Lepelletier d'Aunay, Miss Berdan; Countess de Trochard, Miss Jones; Countess d'Anglemont, the daughter of the late General Thomas, U. S. A., and niece of Mr. Pierre Lorillard of New York; Princess Carlo Poniatowska is daughter of Mrs. Ely-Goddard, well known in New York society; the Marchioness de Gabriel and the Countess de Narbonne, daughters of Mr. Peelan, of New York; the late Baroness de Brimont was Miss Penland, whose home was No. 42 Union Square, New York, and the Baroness de Pierre and Countess de Pussac were Misses Thorne, of New York, where their late old mansion at No. 8 West Sixteenth street was the scene of many delightful entertainments.

Prompt relief in sick headache, dizziness, nausea, constipation, pain in the side, guaranteed to those using Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Daily Local Review.

GAZETTE OFFICE, FORT WORTH, TEX., Feb. 23, 1902.

As was expected, the continued bad weather has caused a stiffening in values of produce. Butter has climbed up to 21¢ @ 22¢ per pound, while eggs cannot be had at less than 12¢ per dozen.

Poultry is also scarce and values are hardening. Retailers have not done a heavy business to-day, owing to the bad weather, but they were as busy as could be expected.

Jobbers, on the other hand, had as many orders as they could fill, and have so far felt no slackening in trade. BONDS AND INVESTMENTS. Quite a list has been noted this week in the demand for investments, which has been such a feature since the beginning of the year. It would seem that the appetite of the public has been in a large degree satisfied, and that the large and continued offerings of new issues with more or less claim to attention have had a very considerable influence in the same direction. The inquiry has accordingly degenerated into a scattering one for limited amounts of bonds of unimpeachable character. The foreign participation has also fallen off to some extent, and is apparently confined to a large extent to transactions through syndicates in some of the newer issues.—[Bradstreet's.]
